

Helpful and Harmful in Politics

Harmful

Each person operates independently of the influences of other persons, and, under that preposterous notion, laws are always, necessarily, arranged to most empower those whose influences on others are most hidden. Within that framework, brutality, lies, viciousness, and torture always rule the day. There are no exceptions.

Nazi - the dishonestly made claim that one does not know and does not see; notsee, lying notsee Nazi, get it? A complete coincidence of language, but an extremely profound match-up of circumstances.

Rightist talk - Freedom means doing whatever you want. Ha ha ha.
Cackle, cackle, cackle.

At this most disgusting of all positions, reside The Obviously Psychotic, Imbecile Directors of the large corporations, their Criminally Deranged Technicians, Assassins, and Financiers, and their Corporate Imbecile Agencies, and Nazi puppets. When these folks win, everything dies, as they so smirkingly cackle to each other. I call them "The Laughing Imbecles" at the pinnacle of cannibalism . . . er, I mean capitalism. These are ugly people, satanic monsters, repulsive butchers, very very stupid, vicious, filthy, slimy, crackpot, stinky, mean, sociopathic, lying, and all the rest. I said, disgusting.

Capone, Pinochet, Manson, Hitler, vacant, puppet, all

Media/Academia Corporate Imbecile idea of a full range of views: All the way from Much Worse ("left-wing") to torture everything to death right now (right-wing).

According to the Petroleum Broadcasting System and The New York Times, herein resides the uppermost reaches of communist extremism.

Oprah Winfrey, Barbara Boxer. Usually, safety is definitely way better and very wise.

Huge Difference
The Single Most Important Life and Death Distinction. When correctly made at the high level, everyone does well

Huge Differences
Major life and death distinctions. Higher on this scale is always better than lower

Note: In this chart, the left wing view is placed on the right side of the page as the viewer faces the page. Thus, in this case, left and right as points of the compass do not match up with left and right as political viewpoints. There's a good reason for this. First of all, it must be understood that, for some reason, in nature, that which appears in the right side of our line of vision has a certain quality of familiarity or expectedness, while, by comparison, that which appears in the left side of our field of vision, again, by comparison, appears to have qualities of strangeness or unusualness. Thus the understanding that holocaust and horror were the usual thing in history resulted in people associating the political right wing ("eternal horror") with the right side field of view. At some point in French history, some cooperative types, all rebellious and everything, assembled on the left side of a chamber, and because cooperativeness as a governing system was considered new or unusual or different, the labels stuck - cooperative/unusual/left, and vicious/usual/right. However, it turns

Helpful

Each person, by nature, has an enormous influence on the thoughts and behavior of other persons in ways that can be directly and specifically identified, measured, and traced, and each person's thoughts and operations are enormously influenced by other persons in ways that also, can and should be seen and traced. That's communist.

Common agreements - laws, rules, and the like - work best when those influences are overtly, comprehensively, and accurately, I said accurately, taken into account. Community, communism; the language is not coincidental, and the circumstances match up.

Leftist talk - Freedom means excellent protection for a maximum variety of caretaking activities. No joke.

Very Little Difference:
In nature, evolution does not discriminate along the good/better scale. In nature, any alleged "competition" (a misnomer) is only in regard to deadly reaction.

For the purposes of high level leadership selection, for the purposes of choosing local attachment figures, and for the purposes of determination regarding caretaking projects

The first most important distinction is the distinction between good and bad. The second most important distinction is between a little bit bad and very bad. And the least important distinction, unimportant for high level purposes, is between a little bit good and very good.

The downward slide on the Bad/Nazi/Corporate/Republican-Party side of the chart indicates the fact that right-wing operations are always followed by the requirement for additional hiddenness, lying, and destruction, and the medium-term slide to full blown Nazism is mostly automatic.

On the Good/Communist/All-sweetness-and-light side, difficulties are handled with integrity and in a straightforward and work-out-well-all-around-intelligent manner, patterns are relatively easy to see and adjust, and the mostly automatics operate towards the solve forever and advance direction.

out that work-out-well-all-around is the rule for 100,000 years of Homo Sapien history, 3 million years of human evolution, and 4 billion years of bio-system, as well as being, obviously, the basic structure of the human behavioral system. The last few millenniums of horror turns out to be a weird anomaly, caused by some bad decisions made a few thousand years ago, since heavily perpetuated, and all along and especially at the present time, obviously, easily correctable. For all history, it is communism that is the normal thing, the usual thing, the expected thing, hence its visual placement in this chart. It is extremely important to continue to use the terms in their usual way - left/cooperative and right/satanic - but I do not connect that with their visual placement. In fact, the nazis/capitalists/satanists/bourgeoisie are the anomaly and the rebels; It is communism, I said rock-ribbed, dyed in the wool, forever unsinkable Marxist Communism, that matches the behavioral structure of Homo Sapiens Sapiens, matches almost all history, and matches the nature of life.
